

READY FOR A NEW CHALLENGE? APPLY FOR A POSITION AS TEST AUTOMATION ENGINEER

TestGilde GmbH is a consulting company focussing on test, quality and requirements management. We accompany renowned companies on the way to successfully improving their software projects. For this we rely on qualified employees, small project teams, flexible structures and short decision-making processes.

You can find more information about us at www.testgilde.de.

Your responsibilities as Test Automation Engineer are:

- + Implementation, maintenance and further development of test automation solutions for our customers
- + Creation and maintenance of automated test scripts based on the technical test case specifications in our test projects
- + Supporting and advising our customers on the introduction of test automation tools in software development projects
- + Active participation in the further development of our own test automation framework

Your skills:

- + Completed studies in (business) IT or comparable training
- + Professional experience in the areas of test automation or software development
- + Good proficiency in German and English
- + Basic knowledge in the areas of databases, web services and interfaces
- + Programming experience (preferably JS or Python)
- + Knowledge in CI-Server (e.g. git, Docker, Jenkins) as well as automation tools (e.g. Postman, Cypress,...)
- + Quick grasp of tool and platform specific scripting languages and application libraries
- + Analytical way of thinking, curiosity for new technological developments
- + Confident appearance, independence, customer orientation and flexibility

What we offer:

- + Interesting and varied responsibilities
- + National and international customer projects
- + Professional working atmosphere in a highly motivated team
- + Flat hierarchies and communication at equal level
- + Performance-based salary and attractive social benefits
- + Flexible working hours and work mobility
- + Individual development opportunities

Are you interested and looking for variety instead of daily routine? Then you can send us your application including your salary expectations, by email to karriere@testgilde.de or if you have any questions, please contact Renate Noack via email renate.noack@testgilde.de.